Why we want you

Volunteers who provide support, guidance, and encouragement young people so they can complete their projects and develop their skills. Many mentors do not have technical skills, but that doesn't stop them from having a huge impact on the young people at our Gwiddle Clubs. Anyone who is passionate about technology and shares the Gwiddle spirit can be a mentor! The role of a mentor is not the same as that of a teacher or lecturer. Mentors help young people work through problems and encourage their efforts rather than directly delivering solutions. We're looking for York, Northallerton and Harrogate based volunteers to join our volunteering team!

What you will be doing

- Providing support, guidance, and encouragement to young people
- Working through tutorials to help them build coding projects
- Encouraging young people to solve problems

The skills you need

- Passionate for technology
- Problem-solving
- Patience
- Friendly and supportive

What's in it for you

- You will be supported and trained by our Community Coordinator and Volunteer Coordinator
- Opportunity to learn new skills and progress
- Support your local community
- Gain more confidence
- Looks great on your CV!
